Restful Nights, Days free from Torture,

Await the rheumatic sufferer who resorts to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters That this benignant cordial and depurent is a far more reliable remedy than colchicum and other poisons used to expel the rheumatic virus from the blood is a fact that experience has satisfactorily demonstrated It also enjoys the advantage of being,—unlike them—perfectly safe With many persons a certain predisposition to rheumatism exists, which renders them liable to its attacks after exposure in wet weather, to currents of air changes of temperature, or to cold when the body is hot. Such persons should take a wine glass or two of the Bitters as soon as possible after incurring risk from the above causes, as this superb protective effectually nullifies the hurtful influence To the functional derangements which accompany rheumatism such as colic spasms in the stomach palpitation of the heart, imperfect digestion etc the Bitters is also a most useful remedy It is only necessary in obstinate cases to use it with persistency

WASHINGTON.

The House Passes the Fortification Bill.

THE LAND LAWS REPEAL BILL

The Senate Debates the Oleomargarine Bill—Political Downfall of Senator Edmunds—Attorney General Garland

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Immediately after the reading of the journal the house resumed consideration of the fortification appropriation bill the pending amendment being that offered by Randall of Pennsylvania reducing from [illegible] to $100,000 the appropriation for armament of sea coast defenses Randall withdrew his amendment and offered another, which was adopted by unanimous consent providing that guns, projectiles, etc, purchased shall be of American manufacture The bill was then passed

The next business was consideration of the senate concurrent resolution for the printing of 10,000 copies of the third annual report of the civil service commission agreed to—yeas 15 nays 46

Cobb of Indiana from the conference committee on the bill repealing the pre-emption timber culture and desert land laws reported complete disagreement

Payson [illegible] over the points of difference between the two houses at [illegible] condemnation of the senate amendment which provides that after final proof of claimant under homestead and pre-emption laws, and the issuing of duplicate receivers certificate if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the commissioner that fraud has been employed unless it shall appear that the land had been sold or conveyed to a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration the commissioner shall suspend the issuing of a patent for the same This provision he regarded as an incentive to fraud as it required the commissioner to issue a patent if the land had been sold to a bona fide purchaser, even though the original title had been acquired by fraud He hoped the house would by a unanimous vote insist upon its disagreement to this amendment

Gifford of Dakota charged that in the management of the land bureau there was an absence of any discrimination between cases of honest and dishonest settlers and asserted that it was the purpose of the senate amendment to put an end to senseless litigation

Laird of Nebraska in approving the provision of the senate amendment denied the charges made by the land bureau that immense frauds were existing in the West in relation to the entry of public lands and stated that in Arkansas there were double the number of frauds existing that were charged against Nebraska and in Louisiana double the number

Carey of Wyoming favored so much of the amendment as amended instead of repealing the desert land act. The repeal of that law would postpone settlement and reclamation of the arid section of the country for a long time and would place the land under control of cattlemen who would like to see every land law repealed in order that they might have an open, free, unfenced country

Perkins moved that the house recede from its disagreement to the senate amendment lost 20 to 142 The house then insisted upon its disagreement and a further conference was ordered

Morrison of Illinois offered a concurrent resolution for final adjournment of congress at [illegible] o'clock on July [illegible] referred to the committee on ways and means

The house then took a recess until 8 o'clock The evening session is to be for consideration of business from the committee on postoffices and post roads

At the evening session the only bill passed was one for amending the postal money order system to allow for transmission of small sums through the mails The free delivery system in small cities was discussed but without action Adjourned

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Whitthorne introduced a bill to return tax on cotton collected by the United States in 1865, '66, '67 and '68 from people of certain states of the Union, to be sold or used by such states for educational purposes.

The senate then took up the oleomargarine bill and Vance proceeded to argue against it

Butler offered an amendment extending the principle of the bill to wines and liquors

Gray addressed the senate in opposition to the bill

Harris opposed the bill on the ground that the only power congress had to pass the bill was its power to levy taxes for revenue but it was not pretended that there was at this time the slightest necessity for an increase of revenue The bill was therefore on its face a false pretense

Butler's amendment was laid on the table—yeas 34, nays 10

Van Wyck advocated the passage of the bill The question here he said, was whether one honest industry should be protected against the fraud of another No one would accuse Armour & Co. of frauds and yet their brands were intended to deceive One of them was (exhibiting it) "Armour & Co, pure dairy butterine" Why "dairy"? Why put in that word And in case the public got on to the racket on that brand, here was another one (exhibiting it) "Armour & Co., finest creamery butter This was done of course so that the price of this article might reach the price of genuine butter The bill he admitted was not for revenue purposes nor was it to build up one industry at the expense of another

The question was then taken on Harris's amendment and it was rejected, yeas 18 nays 3[illegible]

Beck said the bill was protection run mad Congress might as well undertake to protect the breed of horses against the raising of mules against the competition of natural gas

After a long debate the senate adjourned

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

THE DOWNFALL OF EDMUNDS

NEW YORK, July 19.—The Commercial Advertiser's Washington special The most noteworthy fact of the year within the field of what may be called personal politics, is beyond doubt the decline not to say downfall of Senator Edmunds It is one of the leading themes of conversation here now a days There has been no startling or sudden descent in his case but the gradual diminution of his influence and popularity is very apparent to any one who looks back over his record of the past six months There are many here who shrewdly suspect that Sherman may be the coming man especially if the Blaine boom should receive a set back during the next two years Edmunds having lost much ground and Logan having seriously damaged himself by his manifestations of jealousy of Blaine his course in reference to the Payne case and various other mistakes Sherman comes to the front again as a man who not only has a fine record for statesmanship and patriotism but also [illegible] to offend nobody of late just because his position as president of the senate has kept him out of mischief This position which Edmunds and Logan did not want because they thought it would be disadvantageous to their prospects as presidential candidates bids fair to prove to have been a decided advantage to Sherman

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND

NEW YORK, July 19.—The Tribune's Washington special says The impression is growing more general that Garland is soon to retire from the cabinet A prominent democratic congressman says he does not expect that Garland will return to Washington from Arkansas after his vacation, at least not as attorney general, for some time On Saturday the president and Attorney General Garland were together, and when Garland came out a man who knows him well was struck by the sad expression he wore as he passed down the stairway

AFTER MANNING'S PLACE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The Chronicle's Washington special says that a prominent San Francisco capitalist is a candidate for the office of United States secretary of the treasury to succeed Manning He is being urged by men who have held and are now holding high state and national offices.

It is rumored here that the California candidate for secretary of the treasury is Lloyd Tevis of this city

ENGLAND

THE CRAWFORD DIVORCE CASE

LONDON, July 19.—In the divorce case of Crawford against Crawford and Dilke, an expert on handwriting testified that he had compared the handwriting in four letters admittedly written by Mr Crawford and signed "Virginia" with anonymous letters warning Crawford against the member for Chelsea and which eventually stirred Crawford to the discovery of his wife's alleged relations with Sir Charles Dilke The expert said the similarity between the writing in the anonymous notes and in the signed letters was so great that he believed the same person had written all the letters he examined This testimony produced a sensation in court

Public interest in the Dilke-Crawford case is unabated In court to-day Dilke was cheerful [illegible] Crawford was sullen and [illegible] Mrs. Crawford was cool and collected During the tedium of technical evidence [illegible] a series of little yawns and twirling a handkerchief She sometimes consulted a miniature diary and occasionally whispered to Mr Lewis and chatted [illegible] with her sisters The evidence of the servants tended to show that Dilke ordered the housemaids to be on the [illegible] as seldom as possible because he disliked to see them The coachman said he frequently drove Dilke to [illegible] in Young street The [illegible] stayed a quarter of an hour Once he saw Dilke and a lady through a window They were only sitting and talking Three servants testified that they never saw lady visitors at Dilke's house One said he had refreshed his memory as to dates by reference to his [illegible] Sir Henry James interposing said that Hassard assisted [illegible] the court

Mlle. Desplaty, a native of Neuchatel was difficult witness She did not remember whether [illegible] 1867 She had kept a [illegible] store in Montpelier place but had forgotten whether it was in [illegible] that she had kept it She had lodgings but was not able to give the name of a lady who had ever stayed a night Sir Charles Dilke she said only called once a year She never saw Virginia Crawford She had engaged Fanny Gray as a servant Witness said she was formerly with Sir Charles Dilke's service had was now [illegible]

Mrs. Roberts deposed that Capt. Foster had called at her house and told Virginia Crawford that it was ordered to Egypt and that Mrs Crawford went Witness also said that Mrs Crawford had [illegible] told her that she (Mrs. Crawford) had often visited Sir Charles Dilke's house Witness [illegible] that Mrs Crawford to rupture her relations with Dilke

A STARTLING ADMISSION

CHICAGO, July 19.—In the anarchist trial officers [illegible] were the first witnesses this afternoon They gave direct testimony that Fielden not only participated in the Haymarket riot as one of the speakers but that he drew a revolver and fired at the ranks of the police This corroborated the evidence of Lieut Quinn which created a sensation there having been no previous testimony of positive proof that any of the defendants himself personally attempted to slaughter a police officer

Quinn swore that he stood some three or four feet distant from the wagon when the bomb exploded and at that moment Fielden and one of the [illegible] who is to discharge a revolver at police Witness is [illegible] certain that Fielden is the man he saw [illegible] He never saw Fielden before nor since that night until to-day but unhesitatingly identified him

Officer Shanley gave substantially the same testimony He had noticed Fielden on the spot [illegible] with five or six others [illegible] alley which was close to the wagon

James K. Magie was put on the stand and asked concerning the meeting in West Twelfth street Turner hall October 11 last He said Spies and Fielden were present and the former proposed the resolution which was passed recommending the use of force and arms instead of the ballot to redress the wrongs of laboring men The resolution advised workingmen to arm themselves to enforce the eight hour movement promised for the 1st of May The speeches of Fielden and Spies [illegible] must be summed up in the words force, arms and dynamite The resolutions were enthusiastically carried About 500 people were present.

Thomas Grief owner of the hall where the anarchists met, according to Informer Waller's testimony testified as to the location of the premises, but furnished no evidence of importance. Witness was cross-examined to show that from the nature of the situation very little secrecy could have been had for the meeting

Officer John Doyle rose from among the spectators and with the aid of crutches hobbled to the witness stand He carried thirteen wounds as souvenirs of the Haymarket riot He pointed out Fielden who said "Now's your time"

Officer Spierling testified to having seen Fielden fire a pistol as the bomb exploded

The remainder of the afternoon was occupied in examination of detective James Bonfield who arrested Spies and Schwab on the day following the massacre Numerous articles found in close proximity to Spies's editorial desk were shown among them a piece of fuse five inches long and a fulminating cap. A huge revolver nearly a foot long and beautifully plated was also exhibited When the hour of adjournment was reached the jury looked completely fagged out

Railroad Attorneys in the Senate.

New York Times

When the railroad attorneys bill was the subject of debate in the senate nearly three weeks ago Mr. Mitchell of Oregon offered an amendment which had the effect of making the bill ridiculous He had voted against the bill He had declared that it was unconstitutional He had said that it was a measure which never ought to be passed and for which there was no necessity And to make his opposition more effective he proposed the amendment of which we have spoken.

"Now general, you're posted, come give us your views
In a brush at the front what's the powder to use?"
He winked at a star as he puffed his cigar
And slowly replied, "In a brush at the front
I never use powder but—SOZODONT"

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

AN APPEAL FOR INJURED INDIANS

ST. PAUL, July 19.—By invitation Bishop Whipple this evening addressed the St. Paul chamber of commerce in behalf of the Indians at Leech lake and Winnebagoshish Northern Minnesota. In 1881 it was thought necessary to build reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi river After congress had passed the law the attorney general's opinion was solicited and in his opinion he declared that the government had no authority to overflow lands belonging to Indians or to take material from them Notwithstanding this opinion dams have been erected Their guaranties have expired Their crops of wild rice and sugar and their supply of fish have been completely destroyed and they have no means of subsistence left The Indians are in want and have grown desperate Through the efforts of their friends they have been so far peaceable but it [illegible] the writer no one need be surprised if the government's works are ruined by men made desperate by hunger and want The bishop in visiting the country met a party of Leech lake Indians [illegible] fresh fires between Cass lake and Red lake [illegible] of the Indians what it was for [illegible] it was for retaliation [illegible] the white people had done them destroying their property The chamber [illegible] its endeavors towards influencing the government to right the wrong done these Indians

ALBANY'S GREAT CELEBRATION

ALBANY, N. Y., July 19.—This is the second day of the bicentennial celebration and it opened cold and cloudy The city is thronged with visitors and the streets present a most brilliant appearance, the buildings being decorated with many-colored flags and bunting. At 10 A. M. Mayor Thacher with drawn sword and preceded by a police and herald band led a procession in which were the city [illegible] the Burgess corps, the Jackson corps, the Executive committee and Haughnaga Indians in war paint and feathers, and proceeded to the ancient city's gates The streets through which the [illegible] column passed were lined with spectators [illegible] Manning waved to the party from his window and was greeted with a salute

After the procession had passed the pupils of the normal school and the high school numbering several thousand together with the teachers and board of public instruction, assembled in a tent in Capitol park and carried out their programme [illegible] tableaux were presented representing the [illegible] of Hendrick Hudson [illegible] the reception of the Dongan charter at Albany on July 26 1686 the reception of Lieut Gen John Burgoyne and Baroness Riedesel by Mrs. Philip Schuyler after the surrender at Saratoga at the Schuyler mansion in Albany in October 1777 Music was rendered by a chorus of 1000 voices with very great effect The proceedings ended with a canoe race on the river

THE NEW YORK HOP MARKETS

NEW YORK, July 19.—The wide margin of difference between buyers and sellers views on prices has put an embargo upon the trade in hops for the time being Telegrams from the interior state that Friday's storm washed the honey dew off the vines to a considerable extent, but that vermin were not affected in the least and that growers prices are away out of sight. A local dealer telegraphed from Malone that 27c was paid there for choice goods and from other quarters it was reported that Eastern dealers are anxious buyers at Waterville and Cooperstown Choice 85s and prime 84s are held away above the highest prices thus far paid In the local market 25 cents is the highest price yet bid or paid for choice grades That quality is not offered, however There was a speculative contract for about 200 bales of 1886 Pacifics for sale for which 30 cents per pound it was intimated would be accepted but that price was said to have been refused for a much larger lot The [illegible] reports that the German crop is unlikely to be more than one half the average The Pacific coast crop of 1885 common to choice is quoted at 14 to 22 cents

Speaking of the rapid advance in hops a large dealer said "I think the high prices are only temporary and will not go up to or above 31 a pound Brewers are buying only for immediate wants and as soon as the new crop is gathered prices will go down"

CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS

ST. PAUL, July 19.—At the national conference of charities and corrections this morning reports from various institutions and states were read Dr Jennie McCowan of Iowa read a report on work in that state, which she claims has fewer women convicts than any other state in the Union

Mrs Woods of the Erring Woman's home, Chicago was allowed to address the meeting for five minutes. She said the great trouble was to care for the continually increasing number of girls who were being led astray and driven to prostitution or suicide many of the victims being mere children. The main idea is to make this home as near like a natural home as possible and many have returned to friends through this institution

William H Letchworth president of the New York state board of charities read a paper on Children of the State He stated that there are in the United States 48,928 blind persons of whom [illegible] were in educational institutions other than day schools, and 33,878 deaf mutes of whom 5[illegible] were in similar institutions The total number of [illegible] in the United States was 76,895 Of these [illegible] were in training schools Illegitimacy had been a statutory offense Almshouse care of these [illegible] ones has proved a failure Under organized private benevolence results have been achieved that could have been reached by the public

THE SURPLUS RESOLUTION

NEW YORK, July 19.—The World in a double leaded editorial is out in favor of the Morrison proposition, thus placing itself in quasi antagonism to the administration and its fiscal policy

The Journal of Commerce says We doubt the policy of directing so large a disbursement of treasury surplus but the error if it is one is not so glaring that there may not be two sides to the question Apart from this the clamor that such disbursement means repudiation or is anything akin thereto is perfectly ridiculous

MORMON CONVERTS FROM ICELAND

NEW YORK, July 19.—The steamer Alaska from Liverpool brought four families of Mormon converts from Iceland, twenty five persons in all There was $25 cash in the whole party The Castle Garden officials are not determined whether or not the law allows them to send the detachment to Iceland and if so whether such would be an expedient course These immigrants are the first Icelanders who have been converted to the Mormon faith Agent Hart says they will be provided with homes immediately upon their arrival in Utah

THE EXTRA SESSION

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—When interviewed this morning on the possibility of an attempt being made to elect a United States senator during the special session of the legislature Governor Stoneman said emphatically that he had not the slightest idea that anything of the kind would be attempted He said "I did not fail to give the question serious consideration and consulted with the ablest lawyers in the state before I issued the proclamation All agreed that no legal election of United States senator could be had at a special session unless specified in the proclamation I have reason to believe that no attempt will be made to do anything of the kind

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—It is stated that a determined effort will be made to elect Senator A. A. Sargent at the extra session of the legislature, to fill the unexpired term of John F Miller Since the last session a number of deaths have occurred, and some of the other members are disqualified because of their holding federal offices. Exclusive of these the senate stands politically Twenty republicans and twenty democrats John Daggett, lieutenant governor the presiding officer, a democrat having the casting vote The assembly stands sixty republicans and twenty democrats. The republicans therefore have forty majority on joint ballot

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—It is asserted by many of the most prominent members of the legislature that the extra session will not adjourn without electing a United States senator to succeed Senator Hearst It is claimed that the state constitution and the revised statutes of the United States compel the election of a senator and that the governor having called the legislature together has now no power to prevent it

ERRORS IN THE [illegible] OF [illegible] ARGUMENT.

Mr Meeker's argument for protection is [illegible] on the statement that twenty years ago [illegible] steel rails were sold [illegible] government [illegible] rails may now be bought for one [illegible] money or less, is [illegible] post hoc, ergo propter hoc, [illegible] could be more misleading. The [illegible] cause of the reduction [illegible] is the employment of new [illegible] facture, growing out of the [illegible] semer and others by which [illegible] be produced actually for less [illegible] ones. The process [illegible] without fuel [illegible] protective tariff, makes cheap [illegible] us, but for the whole world. [illegible] restricted to old processes [illegible] now be sold for much less money than twenty years ago. And the same is true of goods in almost every other line of manufacture. Improved machinery, better methods, higher skill applied to all lines of industry during the last twenty years as never before, are the great factors that have reduced the cost of production and consequently the prices of commodities and as this reduction has been world wide, surely the tariff laws of the United States have not been the chief instruments of it. No one indeed, who considers the subject, can suppose that they have had really any more effect on the world's prices than has been exerted by precession of the equinoxes or by Kepler's laws of planetary motion.

Nor is the argument drawn from comparison of the relative conditions of labor in England and the United States a sounder one. That labor is better off in the United States than in England is certain. But can any one suppose that a protective tariff for England would improve the conditions of labor there? In that tight little isle of dense population people must live by manufacturing goods for the world's markets, and these goods therefore must be produced cheaply. In such circumstances wages must be low. Even the food of the country must be imported and this increased cost of food comes out of wages. Men must work or starve. There is no open country, no Great West, as with us, to draw off surplus population. The country affords no opportunities as ours does, for every enterprising man to work on his own account. It has not vast areas of open lands, as our country has, which any citizen may have for the taking. In England there are no natural resources as yet unappropriated, as with us. These and like facts account for difference between the conditions of labor in England and the United States—not the fact that we are going on under a system of protection while England's policy is free trade. Such are the advantages of our situation and condition that we could pursue either policy and still be prosperous, while England's situation is such that she has no choice, but must adhere to free trade or starve half her population. England must sell goods all over the world or her people cannot live, and she is therefore pursuing the policy absolutely necessary to the [illegible] of cheap goods and to command the world's markets.

Whether therefore our policy is that of protection or of free trade, there can be no comparison between the conditions of labor in the United States and in Great Britain. [illegible] can there be for centuries to come, if ever, for, were there no other reason, we can produce our own food while the British islands cannot. Were our population [illegible] millions still our own soil would feed the food for its support. Were food as cheap in England as it is with us the present effect doubtless would be to give the workingman higher wages and so improve his condition, but increase of population stimulated by this advantage no doubt would soon reduce him again to the present level. These things depend mainly on natural laws and conditions, though our protectionists almost always commit the error of ascribing them to acts of congress or of parliament.

MATERIALS OF HISTORY.

History depends for its accuracy and value on large collection of and comparison of its materials, and full materials can seldom be had till long after the events with which the historian deals have transpired. THE OREGONIAN is denounced as "a ghoul," "a glaour," as a violator of the maxim, "Speak nought but good of the dead," by a shallow writer, because it has given the latest historical facts concerning some of the great battles of the rebellion and some of the eminent figures of recent American history. Our critic seems to be about as ignorant and arrogant as an illiterate fellow we once heard impatiently denouncing Prof Agassiz and his scientific expedition to Brazil, to wit: "D—n Agassiz he's been down to Brazil and [illegible] a new bug. I wish he'd let things alone." THE OREGONIAN hasn't invented any history. It has simply quoted the most recent additions to the authentic history of the war, both Union and Confederate, in support of its view.

Our critic thinks that nobody has any business to go outside "Greeley's American Conflict" for historical authority, the last volume of which was written in 18[illegible], before the official records of the Nation and Confederacy [illegible] had been published. Since 18[illegible] Sherman, Joe Johnston, Hood, Sheridan, Jeff Davis, Early, Grant, Longstreet, Pope, McClellan, Porter, Sheridan, Beauregard, D H Hill, and many soldiers on both sides, have published the history of the great campaigns in which they took personal part; the government has published the official reports [illegible] Confederate a vast number of [illegible] private diaries, memoirs [illegible] been brought to light to [illegible] the history of the war hazed [illegible] and illuminated by [illegible] important and authentic inf[illegible] accessible in 186[illegible], nor until [illegible] Greeley.

Until 1881 [illegible] of New York City, began the preparation of "The Campaigns of the Civil War" [illegible] and authoritative military history [illegible] rebellion existed. The Scribner series was prepared by distinguished soldiers who [illegible] participated in the campaigns and battles they describe, and to whom the government and their custodians of records and [illegible] extended every aid in their power. Judge Force of the superior court of Cincinnati told the story of Fort Donaldson and Shiloh, in which he participated. Gen Webb, president of the college of the city of New York, chief of staff of the army of the Potomac, assistant chief of artillery, and commander of the second division, second corps, under Hancock, told the story of the Peninsula campaign, in which he was of the staff of McClellan. Gen Palfrey, who commanded the Twentieth Massachusetts at Antietam and Fredericksburg, described these great battles. Gen Doubleday, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, where he fought with the First corps. Gen Cox tells the story of Atlanta and Nashville, in which he commanded the Twenty third army corps. Gen Humphreys, chief of staff, to Gen Meade, describes Grant's last great campaign, and Badeau quotes Grant's official dispatches in support of his narrative. With full access to all the official data on both sides in free correspondence with Hancock, Slocum and all the great chiefs on either side, the authors of the Scribner series writing sixteen years after Greeley's book of course had fuller and more complete materials for an accurate history, and yet since even 1883 most important additions and corrections have been made.

Walter Scott wrote his history of Napoleon while the events were fresh, and yet his history is so far from being authority that while we are seventy-one years distant from Waterloo we are only to-day getting at the whole truth of Napoleon's career and character through the opening by the French republic of the archives of the war office, the records of the police, the private memoirs of Madame Remusat and of Claude Fauriel, the famous scholar, who in youth was under Fouche, Bonaparte's famous chief of police. Weems's life of Washington was the earliest published, but it is worthless as an authority compared with Irving's [illegible] book until fifty years after Washington's death. Peterson [illegible] of the [illegible] ever the [illegible] and [illegible] literary style, [illegible] valueless [illegible] was published only [illegible] the English work of [illegible] within a few years after the [illegible] the [illegible].

[illegible] reminiscences to [illegible] "Life of Lincoln" [illegible] In [illegible] interesting and important information concerning Lincoln and Stanton has lately been published in the book of Wm D Kelley, "father" of the house of representatives. The historic materials for a full and complete history of the war are not yet exhausted, they are accumulating every day, and when, up to the date of its publication, Greeley's book was most excellent, he died before the Confederate and Federal commanders told their story.

As to Garfield, THE OREGONIAN has said nothing but the truth, it has painted his picture justly as of a warm impulsive man, of fine talents, not without public and private infirmities an orator who did not rise to the rank of a statesman. Garfield's best friend, Blaine, in his public eulogy does not claim that he was a great scholar nor a literary artist. Measured by what he did, by what he said in his public speeches, Garfield was a man of decided talents, but not of that degree of talent or strength of character that will place him in the ranks of our first public men. His fate made the nation idealize him in their sympathy with his agony, but history must judge Garfield as it would an event. History is a judge, not a sentimentalist, a lover, a friend of the family, and Garfield was a man of talent, of eloquence, but not a statesman of first or second rank, measured by anything he ever did, ever said, by anything that he left behind in shape of speeches within or without congress. He was a good soldier but not a superior soldier; he was a good but not a great debater; he was a respectable but not a fine writer or scholar; he was an eloquent speaker without being a great orator; he was a popular man in politics without being a man of leadership or executive quality as a statesman.

To speak the truth of Garfield as a public man is not to speak evil of him; to speak anything but the truth of him as a public man would be to speak evil, because to speak nothing but good of the dead is a maxim that would whitewash the Borgias, the Benedict Arnolds, the Napoleons and all the miscreants, traitors and tyrants that have scourged the world. To paint a dead man's picture by the light of petty gossip is unjust and indecent, but to paint it by the light of his own public performance and of the events with which he moved is but [illegible] justice. The distance between our critic and THE OREGONIAN is that while we think pictures of public men living or dead, should be painted in the fast colors of [illegible] our critic would write history with a whitewash brush by the misleading light of prejudice, sentiment and passion. On the subjects of common [illegible], the manufacture of matches, or the life of Cicero, a cyclopedia prepared ten years ago would probably be sufficient, but the full, complete authentic history of the great war [illegible] is still in process of construction by the accession of new testimony and the unearthing of new material. Another thirty years may pass away before the material for a complete history will be all collected, sifted and digested by the historian.

The New Orleans Times Democrat warns the Alabama prohibitionists that they will make a fatal mistake, if they go into state politics and nominate a straight ticket. Its advice is based on the phenomenal success, in the South, of the local option scheme. "This," it says, citing the Georgia success in getting prohibition in nine-tenths of the counties, "is the right and proper policy—that each district should pass judgment on this question. Whenever an attempt is made to compel a county to adopt prohibition contrary to the wishes of its people, that attempt is foredoomed of necessity to absolute failure."

Our dispatches a few days since announced the death of Rear Admiral Worden at Newport. Eastern papers now advise us that Rear Admiral John L. Worden is alive and well at Washington. The man who died at Newport was Rear Admiral Werden, and not the man who whipped the Merrimac. No doubt the mistake was made in telegraphing the announcement. Nearly all papers of the country printed it as we did.

Providence R I, complains that it is being ruined as a business center by the existing local law of prohibition. The Hotel Dorrance, a large establishment, has closed its doors, and the Narragansett hotel which cost $250,000, threatens to close. The opinion is that the large hotels cannot be made to pay unless wines and liquors can be had therein by the large class who want them.

Representative Milliken of Maine says that Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress" has thus far netted its author $250,000. It may be doubted whether President Cleveland will ever write a book that will have so great a sale.

PROTECTION AND THE FARMER.

[illegible] W T July [illegible] 1886

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] entitled "Protection does not help the farmer" [illegible] my article [illegible] the United States advocating a settled policy of protection [illegible] that protection [illegible] everything the farmer has to buy at [illegible] in the price of what [illegible] illustration, refer to the duty on iron as [illegible] to the cost of agricultural machinery and all articles in which iron is used.

Now you are [illegible] our protective duty [illegible] the cost of that commodity [illegible] exactly the reverse. Twenty years ago English steel rails sold at $150 per ton. A 45 per cent ad valorem duty was imposed by our government, and American steel rail manufactories sprang into existence, prices declined at once to [illegible] and finally to $30 per [illegible] and have [illegible] downward tendency [illegible]. And why? Because in the first place the English steel rail manufacturers were [illegible] of the situation and could charge a fictitious price. Making enormous profits and accumulating immense capital they were in a position to stamp out any unprotected struggling manufactory that might have the temerity to raise its head in sight.

Some of this reduction is doubtless due to improved methods of manufacture but the fact nevertheless remains that the greater part was in consequence of the protected home competition that forced English manufacturers to reduce prices [illegible] of the market.

So it was with cotton fabrics with starch and [illegible] goods, silks and numerous other protected [illegible] declining upon the establishing of competing manufactories in the United States. The protective tariff afforded assurance of steady and uniform market and constant occupation. So much for protection keeping up an artificial price.

Now for the converse proposition that protection adds [illegible] to the price of what he (the farmer) has to sell.

Will you seriously assert that if the farmers of Oregon and Washington had woolen factories established in their midst to manufacture all their wool they would not receive any more for it and at the same time obtain their woolen manufactured goods for less than when the same must be transported across the continent and the Atlantic and back again at a large cost for double freights, innumerable commissions and other charges? Or if they had a manufacturing population in their midst to whom they could look for a home market for a portion of their wheat that they could obtain no more for it than now, where such enormous freight charges are paid? Assuredly they could and would find a better and higher market at home than they now find abroad. Besides it is a generally recognized fact that a home market makes possible a diversified farming that is impossible under present conditions in Oregon and Washington that with a home market they may raise fruit and vegetables and produce butter cheese eggs and poultry and innumerable other articles at a profit instead of being debarred as now by their long distance from market.

Look at the one article of sugar mentioned by me in my former letter. It is notorious that free sugar has not made cheap sugar. That article although duty free here with us, has nevertheless been higher than upon the Eastern seaboard where a duty is paid. And why? Because of the opportunity given here by free sugar for the creation of a monopoly that was strong enough to stamp out competition. Had we had protection and the resultant competing home factories we should now have, not only cheaper sugar than heretofore but also a home market for much of our farm produce. All this market would add many millions of [illegible] to our [illegible] farm produce.

Nor is this all. Had we these manufacturing communities in our midst we would [illegible] ing the fat of the land in the shape of wheat foreign countries [illegible] the same through [illegible] of their great cities that sooner or later would impoverish the soil decrease our yield, destroy our profits and [illegible].

[illegible] were the results [illegible] when a protective policy was [illegible] what do we [illegible] that [illegible] which was [illegible] our manufactures have [illegible] greater [illegible] stripping free trade England [illegible] We have [illegible] her exports [illegible] and this [illegible] of [illegible] but we paid fifty [illegible] per cent higher wages than she [illegible] paid in England.

I have recently visited England and I know [illegible] when I say that [illegible] of this country will [illegible] that the United States [illegible] miserably housed [illegible] are on the verge of pauperism. In [illegible] there are now over 1,000,000 paupers in England alone. Her ships are rotting at an her [illegible] fleet of steamers more than half are out of commission, her artisans are out of employment and yet her land is going out of cultivation.

But I must desist because of the length of this article and from lack of time, with but one more remark. When England throve best under free trade it was under different conditions than now exist. Fifty and even twenty five years ago she commanded and controlled the markets of the world; now she has other nations as competitors instead of as customers; then she could dictate the price and in a measure the quality; now she must submit and be dictated to. Then she could find outlet for all she could manufacture; now she cannot, and has 6,000,000 tons of iron stored in the kingdom without market. Yes, the farmer has much to gain from protection and nothing to lose.

E MEEKER.

VIGOROUS HOWL FOR STREET SPRINKLING

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

From all quarters comes loud complaint on account of the streets not being sprinkled. Such a vigorous and universal kick has not been made by the citizens of Portland for a long time. Everybody is howling. The dust rises in clouds and destroys the peace of mind and comfort of everybody. If a window or a door is left open the dust invades the house and spoils everything. The clouds of dust raised by passing vehicles render it impossible to sit out on the porch in the cool of the evening. And for all this misery and discomfort our citizens are primarily indebted to councilman Gerdes of the First ward and secondarily to the other members of the council who allowed themselves to be tricked and bulldozed by this great economist. The streets were well sprinkled and [illegible] by the city last year and everybody was satisfied. The cost was considerable as it included the purchasing of sprinklers horses etc. But there was no fault found with the expenditure. When the matter of providing for this expenditure for this year came up there was an effort made by outside parties to get the sprinkling out of the hands of the city. A cry of economy was raised and owing to the [illegible] management of the city's finances there was a scarcity of funds. It was urged that the sprinkling of streets had better be omitted. The well known animosity of Gerdes to the superintendent of the street cleaning department rendered him anxious to cut down the expenditures of that department no matter what discomfort or inconvenience the people might suffer thereby. So when the ordinance making an appropriation for cleaning, sprinkling and repairing the streets came up Mr Gerdes moved that the word "repairing" be stricken out. This was done and then he moved that the word "sprinkling" be stricken out. Without stopping to give the matter consideration the council allowed the sprinkling to be wiped out. The council refused to dispose of the sprinkling carts [illegible] private parties and the committee on streets ordered them to work sprinkling the streets and when the [illegible] they employed extra teams [illegible] endeavored to keep the dust down. But at [illegible] meeting of the council Gerdes [illegible] and made a great kick [illegible] extra teams [illegible] He and every [illegible] the word "sprinkling" [illegible] the ordinance there [illegible] for expending [illegible] street sprinkling. But with all Gerdes's gall [illegible] superintendent of streets [illegible] kick against having the streets sprinkled [illegible] the employment of extra teams and threatened to invoke the aid [illegible] to have the mayor [illegible] warrants for the payment [illegible] extra teams [illegible] trouble [illegible] sprinklers were [illegible] just when they were [illegible] needed and the [illegible] to gratify the private pique [illegible] Gerdes.

Now something must be done. Property owners must petition the council for relief or the [illegible] must [illegible] and his lawsuit and [illegible] the streets properly sprinkled. Gerdes has a [illegible] and [illegible] not seem to press [illegible] vigorously and [illegible] be entertained [illegible] If the council would propose to sprinkle the streets with beer the economist would not oppose the plan but [illegible] sprinklers. And if he [illegible] to help the city out of its financial [illegible] to have his fellow [illegible] thousand dollars he worked [illegible] so energetically to help them to cheat the city out of. At all hazards let us have the streets sprinkled while [illegible] and let those who oppose it remember that there is a hereafter.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

TIED BOAT RACE — For some time there has been considerable rivalry existing between two members of the Portland Rowing association as to who was the better oarsman. This evening the river being in absolutely perfect condition this ... her warm feeling culminated in a race. The ... for athletic honors ... for the benefit of the general public be called the fat man's ... The conditions of the race were that Dr F ... Eaton was to row in one of the paper shells and ... his opponent Mr F M Arthur, who was to row in one of Jim Caty's cedar boats, two minutes start. At a few minutes before ... o'clock the men left the boat house, Mr Arthur getting in to position first. At the word "Go" Mr Arthur's oars struck the water simultaneously and he was away at a 35 stroke. He was well on toward the Jefferson street ferry before the two minutes were up, but as the timepiece in Mr Garnsey's hand indicated that the time was up he signaled the doctor, and off he went at a long, even 45 stroke. Of course every one knows that in a time allowance race there is very little spurting, done there being no incentive as it were, but Mr Arthur came in at a 35 stroke, time ... minutes. Precisely two minutes later the doctor crossed the line, time 2 minutes, so the prize, a silk boating shirt, could not be awarded.

THE COEUR D'ALENES — W W Spaulding, who has just returned from a visit to the Coeur d'Alene mines, gives a glowing account of their extent and richness. He says the people there are anxious to deal with Portland, and that the interests of the city require that railroad communication between this city and Coeur d'Alene should be established as soon as possible and that smelting works should be erected here. At Wardner, on the South Fork, the Sullivan mine is working three tunnels. Parties from Butte have put up a concentrator at a cost of $40,000 and are reducing about sixty tons per day to less than half that weight, which is then shipped to Butte at great expense. Across the gulch the Bunker Hill claim is opening out a vein of good ore forty feet in width, which runs from $10 to $100 per ton in silver and galena. A concentrator is soon to be erected on this lead, and several hundred tons of ore are already on the dump. Mr Spaulding visited Pine Creek, Evolution, Centerville, Nine Mile and other points, and says there is good ore enough in those places to keep smelting works running for all time. Mining experts say that the Coeur d'Alene mines are better than Butte ever was, and their extent and richness are settled beyond question.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY — The young men's boarding hall and dormitory in connection with Willamette university is to be a great advantage in the price of student living. Three weeks ago it was announced that a building of twenty-six rooms would be ready in a short time for the accommodation of young men and boys, and that the rooms would be rented for $1 a month each, and that day board would be furnished for $2.50 per week. Ten of the rooms have already been written for, and many opinions expressed that the boarding and lodging plan proposed would work a great benefit to the university. Tuition is a small expense to a student while away from home compared to the cost of living, so that in order to induce attendance the rate of living must be cut down. While Willamette university has only moderate charges for tuition for a school of high grade, yet its boarding accommodations have been provided at the lowest Eastern prices. Those desiring to engage rooms and board for the next term beginning September ... may send for catalogues and information to President Van Scoy, Salem, Oregon.

POLICE COURT — In the police court yesterday Mary Armstrong, an old timer, who hasn't put in an appearance for some time past, was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty and will be given a trial to-day. William Strein and Alex Strein, accused of assault with a dangerous weapon on Ah Lo, waived examination to appear before the grand jury and were held to answer on $100 bonds each. A fellow named Woods and another named Crowley, arrested for trespassing by sleeping in A H Johnson's barn on Twenty-second street between E and F, pleaded that they had permission of Mr Johnson's oldest son to do so. Their cases were consequently continued until such time as it can be ascertained whether or not they told the truth. Charles Jack..., arrested for bathing in the river without having first donned himself with a bathing costume as provided for by law, had his case continued for trial until to-day, as also did James Cailicott, found trespassing in the hallway of Mickey's building at the corner of Second and Morrison streets.

PLATINUM SPECIMENS DESIRED — James H Fisk of this city has received a communication from the U S Geological Survey and Division of Mining Statistics and Technology asking him to furnish information in regard to platinum mines in this state. An analysis of the crude platinum is desired, also a list of places not mentioned in former reports where platinum is found. This information is desired by the department in order that a calculation may be made as to prospects of using American platinum in the arts and manufactures of this country in the near future. There is plenty of platinum in this country, and if the mines were developed there would be no need to import the metal from foreign countries. Parties in any part of the state who have platinum mines will please send samples with full information as to extent of deposit, etc, to Mr Fisk, who will forward to Washington.

DISTINGUISHED JURISTS COMING — The Spirit of Missions for this month says that Chief Justice Waite and Associate Justice Gray of the U S supreme court and the Rev Dr Tustin will make a summer excursion to Alaska and expect to call at St Michael's, whither the Rev Octavius Parker has gone. Dr Tustin passed through Portland on the 16th of this month going on in advance of his party to Port Townsend or Victoria. Judge Waite and Judge Gray are coming on by way of the Northern Pacific to arrive in Portland in a few days and take the next regular steamer for Sitka. If they extend their summer excursion to St Michael's island, 2000 miles to the northwest of Sitka, one cannot help thinking they will find it a larger undertaking than they bargained for.

NEW MINISTER FOR TAYLOR STREET M E — C W Chandler will sever his connection as pastor of Taylor street M E church in a month or two. His successor has already been selected by Bishop Walden, who visited this city last year and ... the kind of a man needed. He chose Rev Mr Mullnix of Columbus, Ohio. After a careful consideration in spite of the protests of Eastern friends, Mr Mullnix has accepted the appointment and will arrive here in September. He has a family consisting of a wife, a grown daughter and a son who is a youth in his teens. From a letter received recently from Mr Mullnix it is learned that this call is the chosen one of eight, and that the family are enthusiastic about coming to Oregon.

SWINDLERS IN JAIL — Messrs. Spear, Wood and Atkins, former magnates of the diamond ... tea company, are at present occupying quarters in the county jail pending an examination before the grand jury on a charge of running a lottery, preferred by Simpson the painter. The trio ... recently paid a fine for the same offense, but the present case is a new deal, and as they were unable to give bonds to insure their appearance when wanted, imprisonment was the only alternative. The head of the concern, according to all accounts, ... that the ... was trouble ... for Council Bluffs ... the present trio ... him wishing they had the stick. A ... they are now making industrious use of.

IN ON SEVERAL CHARGES — Early Saturday ... Ah Foo, a Chinaman, ... at the ... bleeding freely from a scalp wound ... complaint that he had been struck over ... with a chair by William and ... The latter was arrested ... fourth ...

A ... It is not often that the ... [illegible] ... Marion county. A well known ... eight acres ... last year ... the price of hops did not pay the cost ... In November last the owner ... the place for a lump sum of $40 rather than ... The hops are now in prime condition. The tenant estimates that the yield will be a ton per acre, and last week he refused to sell his crop in advance for twenty-two cents a pound.

NARROW ESCAPE — Sunday, as the ferry boat at Shambrook's ferry, about twelve miles from Oakland, was crossing the Umpqua river, the horses attached to a wagon on which were a man, his wife and four children became frightened and backed off the boat, pushing a man on horseback with them. The horse swam ashore with his rider, but the man in the wagon was badly injured in the fall and was barely able to save himself. A boy who was running the ferry saved the children and rescued the woman and infant in her arms and swam to the shore. The horses attached to the wagon were drowned.

TO-MORROW'S EXCURSION TO ASTORIA, FORT CANBY AND ILWACO — The Hall street church excursion with the steamer Lurline, to-morrow, leaves Morrison street wharf at ... A M sharp. Fare round trip to Astoria $1. Five hours at Astoria. Fare round trip to Fort Canby and Ilwaco $1 ... Two hours at either place. Refreshments on steamer for those not supplied. Return same evening by moonlight. Tickets had better be secured to-day though they can be secured at the wharf Wednesday morning.

WHARF CONSTRUCTION — The piling for Allen & Lewis's wharf at Albina is nearly completed and the frame for the warehouse is up. The wharf, which was built under the superintendence of Joseph Smith, is 400 feet long and 250 feet deep. The warehouse will resemble that of Mrs Irving a short distance above, being of five spans and covering the entire wharf except the usual space for walks around. It is located on the old foundry property, recently purchased by Allen & Lewis from Smith Bros & Watson.

STRUCK WITH A WHIP — Moses Fried appeared at the city jail last night with a request that a warrant be issued for the arrest of B B Acker. As the story goes, Acker was passing the corner of Fifth and F streets, leading two horses. Fried passed driving his express wagon and ran into Acker, who retaliated by striking him with a horsewhip. Fried consequently feels aggrieved.

EXCURSION — To Multnomah Falls by Zion Evangelical Sunday school of East Portland, July 21, on steamer Wide West. Steamer leaves Ash street at 7:30 and Ausmus's wharf, East Portland, at 7:45. Tickets: Adults, $1; from 12 to 15, 50 cents; under 12, 25 cents. Tickets sold on the wharf.

TO FORESTALL ACCIDENTS — The latest invention for the benefit of druggists is an electric poison case. It is fitted with shelves for holding all the poisons commonly used in making up prescriptions and is furnished with an alarm lock which rings a bell whenever the case is opened. This alarm is intended to remind the clerk that he is about to handle poisons and will have a tendency to make him pay more attention to what he is doing, and prevent accidents. On the door of the case is a list of poisons and their antidotes.

WANTS A DIVORCE — Erastus Rosecrans asks the judge of the state circuit court to dissolve the marriage contract existing between himself and Mary Jane Rosecrans. They were married during the month of March in the year 18.. and have six children, the eldest a daughter aged 16 and the youngest a daughter aged ... years, of whom the plaintiff asks the care. Plaintiff accuses the defendant of adultery, and for particular cause of action alleges that she finally deserted him.

SPRINKLE THE STREETS — From every section of the city come complaints to THE OREGONIAN about the lack of street sprinkling. In some localities, for instance South Sixth street, which is used by teams hauling crushed rock from the quarry, the dust is almost unendurable. If the new council want to incur the everlasting gratitude of their constituency let them to-morrow night order the streets sprinkled. The people will pay the bills without grumbling.

AFTER EIGHT YEARS — A gentleman from Colville brought a remittance to the daughter of a gentleman who died there five years ago. The person paying the debt was an Indian woman, who called on a merchant and inquired for the deceased gentleman, and learning of his death requested the amount be sent as above. The woman owed the money eight years and the payment is regarded as evidence of good faith remarkable for an Indian.

CHINESE FIGHT — About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Lee Wy and another heathen engaged in quite a lively rumpus in front of a laundry on B street between First and Second. Pieces of cut wood lying in the street were used as weapons of war, and during the melee Lee Wy cut the other Chinaman quite badly on the side of the neck with a stick. The quarrel had been going on but a brief length of time when officer McCabe put in an appearance and run both of the combatants in.

MISSIONARY INTELLIGENCE — The Rev O Parker, late of Eugene City, who left here with his family in May last to undertake missionary work in Northwestern Alaska, writes to Bishop Morris under date of June 20, from Ounalaska, 1... miles from San Francisco. They were ashore there for ten days, where they are keeping house in two rooms 8x8 and 7½ feet high. The mountains are covered with snow. It is cold weather and coal is $23 a ton.

TILL TAPPED — Last evening about 11 o'clock a young fellow of the tramp order entered the restaurant of Jerry Fuxley on Fourth street near ... Last Portland and ordered a cup of coffee. While Jerry went to get the beverage his customer proceeded to get away with the till, containing $..00, and made a brilliant success of it. He took the till, money and all, and skipped, and when last heard from was still skipping.

INSANE CHINAMAN — Yesterday morning policeman Austin arrested Lee Wah, a Chinaman, at the upper end of town as insane. The heathen was chasing a lot of children around with a stick when first observed by the officer, and his actions otherwise went to denote that he had lost his reason. He was locked up in a cell in the city jail to await an examination by the county authorities.

REDUCED RATES AT THE SEASIDE HOUSE — Commencing to-day the rates for board at the Seaside House, Clatsop beach, will be $14 per week or $2.50 a day — just what they were last year. The new receivers promise that the cuisine will be up to the standard. This reduction and the hot spell will no doubt send enough Portlanders to fill the hotel by the end of the week.

SELLING LIQUOR TO MINORS — George Smith, a saloon keeper at Front and Main streets, is under arrest for selling liquor to minors and is to have an examination to-day in the police court. The locality above mentioned seems to be a favorite one for carrying on this line of business. In the present instance Dan Moran swears to the complaint.

THE CRATER LAKE SURVEY

After a Hard Trip, the Boats Reach the Banks of the Lake Uninjured

CRATER LAKE, July 15.

We left Ashland about 1 o'clock Wednesday the 7th and as we drove out I could not resist the temptation to make comparisons. Last year our party consisted of four persons, two horses, a spring wagon and a very light somewhat ancient canvas bottomed (and as we subsequently learned leaky) canoe. This year one of the finest scholars in the country is in charge, while Capt Geo W Davis and ten soldiers are with us, making twenty in all. Capts Dutton and Davis lead the way and are followed by a four mule team bearing a first-class lap streak boat, which in turn is followed by three double teams, horsemen and pack train. It is certainly a rare stroke of good fortune that gives us the advice and assistance of Capt. Davis, for he is an able engineer. For many years he had charge of the construction of the Washington monument, and during that time an entirely new foundation was built under it. That his work was done well the monument itself is an enduring witness. Aside from this he has acquitted himself with more than ordinary credit in the construction of forts, etc, in different parts of the country, a portion of which were built under the most difficult circumstances, and yet for less than the appropriation allowed. He has also acquired an enviable reputation in other respects in the government service.

Ashland is a beautiful little town at the south end of the O & C railroad and shows every evidence of contentment and prosperity. Passing north the scenery is charming, with the foothills close at hand on both right and left and a well tended fertile valley between. At half past 5 we reached Medford, a town of two years growth but already aspiring to the leading point in southern Oregon. Here we camped for the night. Thursday a constant change in our surroundings was manifest. Leaving the more thickly settled portion of the valley we slowly drew near the foothills, and gradually cultivated fields became smaller and vegetation less thrifty. A peculiarity visible early in the afternoon was the gravel and volcanic stones that filled the ground, and in low places or gulleys but a few feet apart, where the light soil was washed off by spring freshets, they were piled several inches deep and for miles at a stretch. The first point of interest was Table rock, a long high perpendicular bluff just beyond the Rogue river. Mount Pitt stood to the east like a spotted sentinel, its dark rugged rocks appearing in pleasant contrast with the great banks of snow lying here and there along its sides.

When passing through Phoenix, the typical and irrepressible critic came to the surface in the shape of a lean, lank, awkward, ignorant country boy of say 18 summers. With hands in his pockets he added the single suspender dedicated to hold his breeches in place, and when shifting a monstrous chew of tobacco over his tongue he informed his audience (of half a dozen small urchins) that "That there boat won't live in Crater lake half an hour; a storm come up ... shaped right. Just see for yourself ..." It is ... made by some fellow as never seed a boat before. This brings to mind the fact that a critic is a person who finds fault with something of which he is densely ignorant.

The entire distance from Ashland — ninety-seven miles — was accomplished by ... easy marches, every precaution being taken to provide against ... and no incident occurred of special importance. ... after reaching the foothills ... [illegible] ... the wagon ... straight ... When ... the ... pected to camp at the foot of ... Monday night ... so had it not been that ... our horses ... crossing ... the evening ... On Wednesday ... and on Wednesday ... Here was the rub. This ... about a mile and a half long, very steep sidling ... rocky and filled with roots and stones ... which were great banks of snow packed solid by constant thawing. Progress was slow and tedious, the roadway having to be cut in places while men with picks, axes and shovels dug up rocks, cut down trees and shoveled snow, besides building up or cutting down one side of the roadway. At 10 o'clock on Wednesday, the 14th, the boats were landed on the walls of the lake, having traveled 440 miles from Fort ... and with scarcely a scratch to mar the paint.

To-day the work of launching will be begun, but will not wait to add a description of it to this letter, as Father Blanchet, who is here on a pleasure trip, has kindly consented to carry any mail our party may have to a postoffice. Owen Keegan of Jacksonville is with Father Blanchet, besides whom there are here A W Munson and wife of Jacksonville, Mrs H C Hoover and sons L and C Hoover and W Hoover of Roseburg.

Special credit is due Frank Cummings and Wm Caldwell, the former acting as driver and the latter as brakeman on the wagon containing the Cleetwood and both of them occupying dangerous places in case of accident. On numerous occasions it was necessary to turn a curve where a very few inches to one side would have precipitated wagon, boat and all hundreds of feet over almost perpendicular rocks. Had the driver been incompetent or careless the result would have been most disastrous. These two persons and an Indian named Joe Weeks have probably accomplished a feat never before attempted, namely, they have ridden the entire distance from Ashland to Crater lake in boats. The first two in the Cleetwood and the latter in a skiff.

THE STAGE.

THE NEW MARKET — After a week of comedy and music the Jolly Pathfinders company opened last night in "Mabel Heath," a society drama. The company is much better suited to comedy and will please the public better by reproducing "Scraps," with which they opened here three weeks ago. The low price of 15 and 25 cents prevail this week, which closes the engagement.

J I Norton, Carroll, residing at Far Rockaway, Queens county, N Y, was so crippled with inflammatory rheumatism of ten years' standing that he had to use crutches. He was completely cured by taking two Brandreth's Pills every night for thirty nights, and will answer any written or personal inquiries.

Sure to come again—those who dine at the Knickerbocker, second floor, 67½ Washington. Convenient to the business quarter.

Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

Benton's Hair Grower.
All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF or ITCHING of the scalp, should use Benton's Hair Grower. Eighty Percent of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, who have fully substantiated the following facts.
We grow Hair in 80 out of 100 no matter how long bald.
Unlike other preparations it contains no sugar of lead or vegetable or mineral poisons.
It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.
The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.
Price, single strength $1. If your druggists have not got it we will send it prepaid on receipt of price.

E. L. Gillespie Resigns and J. A. Newell is Elected Recorder.

Council Proceedings—Mr. Bancroft's Resignation not Accepted—Two Belligerents Arrested—Briefs.

The common council met in regular session last evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Raffety in the chair and all members present except Bancroft. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. The following routine business was then transacted.

PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From Thomas L. Sagar and others, asking that liquor license be required to be paid three months in advance instead of six as at present; on motion of Bloomer referred to committee on ways and means.

From Stephen Bernl, reciting that in 1882 he had performed street work on lots 5 and 6, block 186, for which he had received his money; that the work had not been accepted, and asking that the matter be attended to so as to straighten the title on the docket of city liens. On motion of Bloomer, referred to committee on streets and city attorney.

From J. Simon, stating that in 1885-6 he held mortgage on property assessed to J. H. Mitchell; that said property had been returned as delinquent and sold for taxes; that he is now the owner of said property and desires to settle all legal taxes against it, and is willing to pay the amount of the original tax, but not the costs of sale. On motion of West, referred to city attorney.

From Paul Kothenbeutal, stating that he was holder of liquor license No. 15; that he had disposed of his business to J. E. Kelly, and asking to transfer said license to his successor. On motion of Laing, referred to judiciary committee and city attorney.

From same individual, asking to have same license transferred to Charles Fernau; same reference.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

From the committee on current expenses and accounts, recommending payment of bills presented at last meeting. Adopted and warrants ordered.

From committee on elections, recommending that the resignation of Councilman Bancroft be not accepted. Murphy moved that the resignation be taken from the table and be not accepted. West moved to amend, that Bancroft be allowed to withdraw his resignation; amendment carried, and motion as amended carried.

From the committee on streets and public property, recommending that the elevated roadway at the intersection of First and L streets be repaired and the same raised to the established grade; that the Oregon & California railroad company be notified to that effect. On motion of Murphy adopted, recorder instructed to notify company, and when so done that work proceed.

From same committee, recommending the abandonment of the improvement of D street from Fourth street to the river, owing to the fact that a majority of the property owners had remonstrated against the same and that the council cannot legally proceed with the improvement. On motion of Bloomer adopted.

The city attorney, on behalf of the committee on current expenses and accounts, made a verbal report, stating that the attorney for Dr. Wigg had offered to settle with the city by allowing the latter $23 36, the amount of its judgment, if the city would pay the Wigg judgment amounting to $85 96, thus requiring the city to pay $62 30 in cash; he asked for further instructions. Mr. Murphy moved and Mr. Bloomer seconded that the attorney be instructed to settle on that basis; carried, Laing, Merrick and West voting no.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

From the recorder, stating that in accordance with instructions from the council he had issued warrants in favor of property owners on the line of Division street and had tendered the same, with various results. He recommended that the matter be referred to the committee on streets and public property, with instructions to confer with Mr. W. S. Ladd regarding certain improvements he proposed making on said street; on motion of Murphy, adopted.

From city attorney, reporting on the L street claims; referred to committee on streets to report at next meeting.

From the street commissioner, specifying various crosswalks in the city needing repairs; referred to committee on streets and public property.

The city attorney made a report on the Bartel case, stating that the injunction had been dissolved; also in the Dalton case, that verdict had been rendered on the pleadings.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

The annual report of Chief Kindorf was then read, as follows:

EAST PORTLAND, July 19, 1886.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council City of East Portland: Gentlemen—I herewith submit my report as chief engineer of the East Portland Fire department for the year ending July 1st:

COST TO CITY FOR MAINTAINING COMPANIES.

Pioneer Engine Co., No. 1, for allowance..	$50 00
Pioneer Engine Co., No. 1, for salary to engineer of steamer	500 00
Grant Engine Co., No. 2, for allowance	50 00
Relief H. & L. Co., No. 3, for allowance	50 00
	$650 00
Sundry expenses, supplies and repairs	1610 48
Total expenses incurred	$2260 48

LIST OF FIRES.

July 14—Hotel and stores, H. Allegrani et al. owners; cause unknown	$500
July 16—Residence, E. A. Jones owner; cause unknown	300
August 3—Wash house, Dr. Hawthorn owner; cause, defective flue	200
August 16—Dwelling, Mrs. Chambers owner; cause unknown	1000
August 26—Dwelling, J. Sullivan, owner; cause unknown	500
October 21—Dwelling, M. E. Wetmore owner; cause unknown	500
January 28—Dwelling, Misses Conley owners; cause, defective flue	500
July 4—Shoe store, M. Riley owner; cause unknown	1000

In conclusion I would say that I have inspected the several engine houses and apparatus therein, and find everything in good order and condition; and I respectfully call the attention of your honorable body to the following improvements which I find are much needed for the benefit of the department:

In the first place the engine house in the Fourth ward is very badly situated in regard to getting in and out, and suggest the moving of it to a more convenient place in that ward.

I also find that the hose cart now in use by Grant engine company No. 2 is the private property of its members and not subject to the order of the chief engineer, and think it advisable for the city to purchase one for the use of that company.

I further find that the department has not got the quantity of good hose that it actually needs, and would recommend that the city purchase an additional thousand feet for the use of the various companies.

One thing more the city needs is cisterns, and I would suggest that you have two built in the central part of the city, say one at Fifth and L streets and another at Fourth and J streets.

Hoping that your honorable body will give these needed improvements your favorable consideration, I remain, Respectfully yours,

FRED. KINDORF, Chief Engineer.

H. H. HOLMES, Sec'y E. P. F. D.

On motion of Bloomer, referred to committee on fire and water.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were read and referred to the committee on current expenses and accounts: H. Webber, $2; J. Lyons, $6; Gutta Percha Rubber Co., $1 50.

NEW ORDINANCES.

Changing the grades of Second, Third and Fourth streets at the intersections of N, O, P, Q and R streets; read first and second times and referred to committee on streets and public property.

Appropriating the sum of $400 out of the general fund for the payment of the city assessor for the assessment of 1886-7; read first and second times and referred to committee on ways and means.

Adopting the report of the city surveyor on the establishment of grades at the intersections of K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T and Asylum streets with Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets; read first and second times and referred to committee on streets and public property.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From Recorder Gillespie tendering his resignation as recorder, to take effect from the first day of August. On motion of McAyeal, accepted, and J. A. Newell appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Murphy inquired if there was an ordinance providing for the destruction of thistles, and thought one should be enacted. On motion of West, the city attorney was directed to draw up an ordinance to that effect.

On motion of Murphy the street commissioner was instructed to remove the boulders from Fifth street.

Bloomer called attention to the fact that certain streets were not being cleaned according to ordinance.

West moved that the city marshal be instructed to enforce the ordinance.

The mayor ruled the matter out of order.

On motion of Laing the Division street improvement matter was referred to committee on streets and public property, with instructions to report at next meeting.

Mr. West asked and was granted two weeks' leave of absence.

On motion of Mr. Murphy Mr. Bancroft was also granted leave of absence for the same period.

NEWS NOTES.

AN INTERRUPTED MILL.

The present hot spell appears to be conducive to pugilism. Yesterday afternoon two individuals became involved in a wordy debate in Charles Fernau's saloon and decided to settle their differences according to the London rules. Forthwith they repaired to the rear of the saloon, stripped to the waist and waded in. The mill was in interesting and violent progress when City Marshal McMillan appeared on the scene and escorted the participants to the recorder's court, where they pleaded guilty and were fined $10 and costs. Their names are George White (not the foreman on the O. & C. R. R.) and John McGinn.

BOUND OVER TO KEEP THE PEACE.

The case of the state of Oregon vs. J. E. Dooley, accused of threatening to kill one C. C. Arnoldts, which was called in the recorder's court on Saturday last and continued, was called at 10 o'clock yesterday, when the defendant waived examination, and he was put under $100 bonds to keep the peace with the state and especially with the complaining witness.

NOTES.

Councilman McAyeal returned yesterday from [illegible] Point, where his family have been sojourning for some time past.

H. Bernet left on the steamer State of California last night for San Francisco, expecting to be absent several weeks on business. His family will go on a visit to friends at Seattle until his return.

The First Spiritual society has adjourned for the present, in order to give its members opportunity to visit the mountains and coast during the hot months.

Mrs. John Ray and her daughter Ida, who have been visiting with the family of Justice Bullock the past two weeks, returned to their home in Corvallis yesterday.

S. B. Manning and family, Mrs. G. J. Ross, Misses Hattie and Louise Ross, Elwood Baylor, Mrs. F. D. Miller, Miss Mabel Kratz, Mrs. George Sickafoose and James Partlow will go to Long Beach to-day.

PROMINENT PROHIBITIONIST COMING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

J. K. Funk, D. D., editor of the Voice and of the Homiletic Review, of the firm of Funk & Wagnal's, publishers, New York, expects to be in Portland July 27, and wants to meet the editors, the ministers, the prohibitionists, and all people who want to exalt this nation. Further notice will be given of meeting to be addressed by Dr. Funk, and of reception, etc. J.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

Out of the Fight.

War among the cheap and poor shoes:—Hanan's celebrated make (for men's wear) is not affected by this struggle, as the quality and workmanship are far above any cheap product. To have a fine article get Hanan's. Eggert, Young & Co. special agents for Portland.

COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY, July 19.

Very warm weather is followed by slightly cloudy and smoky, without marked indications of rain. Throughout the valley cutting of fall wheat is general, but very few oat fields are ready. A few days of hot weather has greatly hurried ripening of grain, spring sown advancing rapidly.

A decline of one-quarter of a cent is noted in C and Extra C sugars.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 48 hours: 408 ctls wheat, 102 bbls flour, 170 ctls oats, 40 bxs fruit, 8 cs butter, 77 cs eggs, 164 sheep.

FREIGHTS—The Beechholm is chartered by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., rate not furnished.

WHEAT—Market very quiet and the movement is light. Advices being very steady our market may be called firm.

FLOUR—Valley standards are now $3 60@3 75 for car load lots and less, the lower price being largely due to competition on the Sound.

OATS—Very choice sold up to 45c, and present supplies are light. New to arrive this week sold for 40c.

EGGS—Plentiful supplies and sales to-day were at 18c.

CHICKENS—The usual range is $2 50@3 for good young and old. Some sales made at a slight advance.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Governments were quiet to-day. Although to-day's stock market was more active than Saturday's, there was really no news of importance. First prices were irregular and generally showed only ⅛ to ¼ per cent. difference from Saturday's closing figures. Prices for the general list moved off slowly, until after 2 P. M., when the general market rallied small fractions, and closed dull and heavy, close to the lowest figures reached.

The Mail and Express says: Mining shares were dull to-day, Leadville was weaker. The general list was steady. Stormont sold at 15c, Rappahanock 13c, Moulton $2 60, Bodie $1 50, Horn Silver $2 60.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

MARK LANE REVIEW.

LONDON, July 19.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: The rainfall has benefited crops, excepting wheat, which required hot, forcing weather. Wheat is firmer; in many provincial markets prices are 6d@1s dearer. Sales of English wheat during the past week were 28,725 quarters, at 31s, against 33,826 quarters at 33s 11d, during the corresponding week last year. Flour is dull. Foreign wheats are steadier, American is occasionally 6d dearer. An attempt to raise values stops business, and buyers are apathetic. Barley is dull. A limited business has been done in wheat cargoes. There were three arrivals and two departures; two cargoes were withdrawn and two remained, one of which was California.

Trade forward is nominally against buyers, although American red and white wheats are offered more freely. To-day the market was quiet but steady. Full prices were realized. Holders of wheat are asking more money. Flour was firm, especially English flour. Barley favored sellers. Beans were 6d dearer.

BEERBOHM GRAIN REPORT.

LONDON, July 19.—Floating cargoes, firm; cargoes on passage, firm. Mark Lane, firmly held. English country markets generally 6d to 1s dearer. French country markets steady. Weather in England seems less settled.

LIVERPOOL, July 19.—Wheat, quiet but steady.

PARIS, July 19.—Spot wheat and flour, quiet.

THE

Northwestern Mutual Life.

"The Best Company for the Policy-Holder."

More Testimony from the Right Source—From Business Men of Large Experience with the Leading Life Companies:

HENRY BENEDICT, a manufacturer of Milwaukee, Wis., after large experience in several of the leading companies, says: "The NORTHWESTERN is the BEST company FOR THE POLICY HOLDER now engaged in the business of life insurance."

Another (a prominent business man [illegible]) says: "The dividends on my policy have not only increased rapidly from year to year, but have been LARGER THAN IN ANY OTHER COMPANY in which I am or have been insured. I regard the Northwestern as one of the soundest financial corporations, as well as one of the ablest managed life insurance companies in this country, and as such can conscientiously recommend it to the attention of those who desire sound insurance at the lowest attainable cost."

Similar testimony from the highest sources is abundant, and more of it will be given to the public.

HIGH INTEREST RATES, LOWEST DEATH RATE and GOOD MANAGEMENT are the elements of security and low cost in the NORTHWESTERN.
